The Second Language Learning and Educational Technology (SLL/ET) MA trains second language professionals (foreign language as well as English as a second language) in design and implementation of online and blended teaching materials.

Created with the working professional in mind, the MA in Second Language Learning and Educational Technology is designed to be taken online over two summers and two semesters. The great majority of recent job listings mention training or experience with computer-assisted language learning (CALL), online delivery, or technology. Equip yourself with the knowledge and skills needed to enter today's technologically advanced language classroom.
